The World Today . . .

Big 3 Solidarity

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

A morning turned from the headlines in his newspaper and asked me in pre-dawn, sepulchral tones: "Well, when will the next war come—in about five years?"

I wasn't feeling so good myself, because the train was late, but that pessimistic query put me on the alert. One doesn't (or at least shouldn't) talk about world wars in these atomic-bomb days without pausing to think. Anyway, my reply was that while there are very real dangers to be overcome, there is no sound reason why these shouldn't be met successfully. I believe that, too.

Certainly there is cause for anxiety, but there's nothing to cause surprise. The international difficulties are mild compared with what might have developed from such a cataclysm as that through which our poor old globe has just passed. Not only is the world physically torn in many places, but its whole politico-economic structure is undergoing vast change.

Great powers — Germany, Italy, Japan — have disappeared and there is an inevitable realignment of spheres of influence which are causing heart-burnings. British Foreign Secretary Bevin, speaking in the house of commons yesterday, declared that the great difficulty in achieving international cooperation rests in "whether or not you can entirely collocate what are called spheres of influence and power politics." He added:

"Sometimes in these negotiations — I make the confession — power politics seems to me to be naked and unashamed."

The quickest way to overcome this evil is the employment of frankness among nations, and Bevin sounded this note when he appealed to the great powers to "really put the cards on the table face up-wards." While naming names, the foreign minister hinted that Britain was suspicious of Russia's territorial demands. He put it this way:

"You cannot help being a little bit suspicious if a great power wants to go right across the throat of the British commonwealth."

That's putting the cards on the table face upwards. And we've had quite a lot of cards faced so far this week. Russian Foreign

DANIELS TO ENTER PLEA NEXT TUESDAY

Faces Arraignment For Ten-Year Old East Liverpool Murder

LISBON, Nov. 8.—Steps were taken today to bring Clinton Daniels, 32, of East Liverpool, to a speedy trial for complicity in the slaying of Clarence Dickey in an early morning milk wagon hold-up in that city on Christmas morning, 1935, with the announcement by Prosecutor Frank W. Springer that Daniels will be arraigned before Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp at 1 p. m. Tuesday.

At that time Daniels will be given an opportunity to enter a plea to a grand jury indictment returned March 6, 1936, in which he was jointly charged with Dudley Adams and Beryl Rogers for first degree murder.

Two Others Convicted
Both Adams and Rogers were convicted in the court here and are serving life sentences in the Ohio State penitentiary, but Daniels, who fled following the crime, was never apprehended until discharged about two weeks ago after serving with Ohio's Fighting 37th division in the Southwest Pacific under the alias of "Albert Jones".

Throughout the 10 years authorities had "leads" and had trailed the fugitive even as far as the Arctic region, but he always managed to elude the law and it was never able actually to put its finger on him.

The F.B.I. in checking on "Jones," found that he had given false information when he entered the army and the investigation which followed resulted in his ultimate arrest.

Daniels, who was held by the F.B.I. on a charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution, was turned over to Columbiana county authorities Tuesday at Cleveland, and was brought to the Mahoning county jail at Youngstown by Sheriff George Hayes.

Daniels, who will be held in the Youngstown prison, will be brought into court here for arraignment, and will also be present in the court room when a special venire of 75 names will be drawn from the jury wheel as prospective jurors who will weigh his fate in the case.

Grange Head Warns Of Subsidy Danger

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The 37th annual convention of the Grocers Manufacturers of America today heard Albert S. Goss, master of the National grange, declare that "those who sold the American farmer down the river with a rotten subsidy program are beginning to say that it is time to get rid of subsidies without either raising prices or forcing farmers into bankruptcy."

The answer, some say is to let the surplus war production pile up until prices are reduced below ceiling price levels. This can be done, but it means bankruptcy for agriculture, and retracing the steps to destruction which America followed after the last war.

Mrs. Eastman Donates to Salem Scholarship Fund

Mrs. Millie Eastman of Burlington, Ia., widow of Percy Eastman, former Salem man, has donated $500 to the scholarship fund of the Salem High School Alumni association.

The scholarship committee accepted the gift as a memorial to William Eastman, father of Percy. William was cashier of the Boone & Campbell bank and served several years as a member of the board of education.

Percy Eastman attended Salem High school and then went to Burlington, where he became a partner in Chittenden and Eastman, furniture manufacturers. He died several years ago.

Recently his widow visited Miss Alice MacMillan and gave her the $500 fund to present to the scholarship committee.

POLITICS LOOM IN COMING PEARL HARBOR PROBE

Adm. James O. Richardson Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short Adm. Husband E. Kimmel

Sen. R. O. Brewster

The infamy that was Pearl Harbor

Rep. B. W. Gearhart

REPUBLICANS believe they have hit the jackpot in the current congressional investigation of the Pearl Harbor disaster. Taking the offensive, GOP Representative Bertrand W. Gearhart of California, member of the 10-man congressional committee, charges that copies of messages are missing which purported to tell Washington several days before Dec. 7, 1941, that the Jap war was on, while another Republican member, Senator Owen Brewster of Maine, reports records missing from four government radio monitoring stations, which picked up Jap code messages. Along with the political bombshells emerging from the investigation, comes the announcement by William D. Mitchell, chief counsel for the committee, that he proposes to call Adm. James O. Richardson as the first witness, when the group starts public hearings on Nov. 15. The selection of Richardson, commander of the Naval forces at Hawaii until replaced by Adm. Husband E. Kimmel shortly before the Jap assault, leads observers to believe the committee will start the historical record from a point prior to the attack. The two key figures in the investigation, Admiral Kimmel and Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short, army commander at Hawaii at the time of the assault, are not scheduled for early hearing in the tentative investigation agenda.

DISCLOSE HOW NAZI SABOTEUR TIPPED OFF FBI ON LANDINGS

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—One of the eight German saboteurs landed by U-boats in 1942 made a baseline for the FBI and spilled the details of their mission.

This tip resulted in the group being rounded up within 14 days, ruining their plans to wreck TVA — source of power for the atomic bomb project — and other key war and communications projects.

Disclosing this yesterday in a statement, Attorney General Tom C. Clark said arrest of the group caused the Germans to change plans to send over a batch of saboteurs by submarine every six weeks.

The informer, George Dasch, contacted FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover soon after slipping ashore with $50,000 in cash and boxes of explosives. He said he and Ernest Burger, another of the saboteurs, had agreed to notify the FBI.

Truman Calls For Reports To Aid Pearl Harbor Probe

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The White House said today that President Truman has ordered that the joint congressional committee investigating Pearl Harbor must be supplied with any information it desires.

His memorandum, to Federal department and agency heads, as well as to the joint chiefs of staff, authorizes all employees under them to give the committee "any information of which they may have knowledge."

"This directive," the President said, "is applicable to all persons in your departments or agencies whether they are in the armed services or not and whether or not they are called to testify before the joint committee."

The President's action came at a time when Republicans and Democrats on the investigating committee were contending that political considerations are imperiling the value of the whole inquiry.

"They have given it such a political turn," Senator George (D. Ga.) said of the Republicans, "that I doubt the committee can accomplish very much."

Warns of Public Acceptance
Senator Brewster (R. Me.), terming the Democrats' stand "very unfortunate," added: "If there ever was a committee that should be free of partisanship, it is here."

Brewster's contention was that otherwise the public would lack confidence in the ultimate findings.

There are five senators and five representatives on the committee assigned to get the whole story of the Pearl Harbor attack.

The inter-party wrangling has been centered on a thus far unsuccessful demand by Republicans that members be allowed to dig for facts individually as well as in group style.

Senator Lucas (D. Ill.) has said he never would vote to give Republicans authority to go as individuals into files of the late President Roosevelt.

Lucas told a group of reporters last night that the investigation "was conceived in Republican politics, born in Republican politics and will die in Republican politics."

Lucas said Republicans on the committee want to be "private snoopers" rather than impartial investigators.

Brewster carried on his campaign with the slogan: "What's good enough for Truman is good enough for me."

He referred to procedures of the Senate War Investigating committee when it was under the chairmanship of the then Senator Truman. It allowed individual investigations and, said Brewster, reached unanimous agreements "as a result of this freedom that was always accorded by the chairman."

Rep. Gearhart (R. Calif.), a house member of the committee, expressed hope to newsmen that today's meeting would settle the question of individual investigation.

WOMAN HURT WHEN STRUCK BY AUTO

Mrs. Harry Kesselmeire, 72, suffered a double fracture of the left arm and a fractured left leg at 6:55 p. m. yesterday when she was struck by a car driven by Lawrence Lieder, 1913 Liberty st., as she attempted to cross E. State st. at the corner of N. Lincoln ave.

Mrs. Kesselmeire, who lives at 152 N. Lincoln ave., was crossing the intersection from the postoffice when the car turned west onto State from Lincoln ave., police said.

Mrs. Kesselmeire was taken to Salem City hospital. Her condition is reported as fair today. She also suffered body bruises and a severe bump at the base of her neck.

Capt. Nerr Gaunt investigated the mishap.

Canning Sugar Coupons Will Expire On Nov. 15

Housewives were reminded today by the District Office of Price Administration that all canning sugar coupons expire on Nov. 15. Anyone wishing to use these coupons for home canning should do so before that date. Applications for sugar for the 1945 canning season closed Oct. 15.

The OPA asked consumers not to apply for home canning sugar as ration boards have been instructed not to issue any further sugar for this season.

In the 19 counties of northeastern Ohio, comprising this OPA district, local boards issued a total of 20,130,998 pounds of sugar for home canning. This compares with an issuance in 1944 of 39,216,996 pounds. The difference between the two years reflects the critical sugar situation we have been facing and still face, according to the OPA.

Engine Breakdown Halts Troop Train In Salem

A troop train was detained for two hours last evening about 200 feet west of the W. State st. railroad crossing, due to a breakdown of the engine.

One of the passengers, a SeaBee who had served in Australia, told John Horn, stationery engineer at the waterworks pumping station, that the group was enroute to New York to be discharged from the service.

The train proceeded to its destination after the arrival of a new engine from Canton.

COMPENSATION IS SOUGHT FOR INTERFERENCE

Communists Also Call For Withdrawal of Chiang's Troops

By SPENCER MOOSA

CHUNGKING, Nov. 8.—Chinese Communists demanded today that Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, U. S. commander in China, apologize and that compensation be paid for alleged American "interference" in China's internal struggle.

The Reds also demanded that Chinese government troops withdraw from all Red-dominated areas, as the price for peace, but asserted that the government, instead, was planning an all-out offensive for which 90 divisions already were being massed in the north.

The demand for Wedemeyer's apology was contained in one of four protesting letters sent to the American commander by the Communists' Yenan headquarters.

Spokesmen at the Communist headquarters at Yenan called the complete "lie" government claims that the Nationalists have been and would remain strictly on the defensive. More than 70 government divisions have massed around "liberated areas" of Honan province, and Hopei province is surrounded by more than 20 government divisions, the Communists asserted.

Answer to Peace Proposals
Chou En-Lai, Yenan negotiator here and No. 2 Chinese Communist, announced the Yenan answer to Kuomintang peace proposals shortly after reports that the Russians had withdrawn from the Manchurian ports of Hulutao and Ying-kow (Newchwang) leaving the Chinese Reds in command, heightened the already tense atmosphere.

Other developments were:

1. The central government admitted receiving its first serious setback in the fighting in southern Szechwan province.

2. Communists followed up the announcement in Washington that American Marines would be withdrawn from the trouble zone with a series of four protests to the American commander in Yenan, and held the Americans "responsible for any grave consequence" resulting from their presence.

3. The long awaited reply of the Yenan Communist headquarters to Kuomintang peace proposals were received in Chungking. The reply, undelivered to the central government, was understood to contain counter-proposals necessitating further delay in the cease fire order.

The reported Russian withdrawal in Manchuria posed still further troubles for the central government, and greater delays in the landing of Kuomintang troops, none of which have been reported actually landed from American transports as yet.

Hopeful Signs

The vote in Salem's municipal election Tuesday was evidence of a revived interest in good government. Although the number of voters who went to the polls was far short of the total sufficient to make government really representative, the increase over recent elections was great enough to bring back memories of former days and to reveal an encouraging stimulus in the response to every voter's obligation.

The results of that election, however, were more encouraging than the increased response to duty. There were unmistakable signs that an aroused public was intent on making the best selections from the lists of names presented and of supporting an administration which had made an honest effort to give a good account of its stewardship and which offered a record far better than its opposition. That the great majority of voters succeeded in this effort is to the credit of the entire city which deserves something better in government than could be expected from the defeated ticket.

In effect it was a vote of confidence for Mayor R. R. Johnson personally and for his administration. That was richly deserved, for he has brought dignity and honesty of purpose to the chief executive's office. The next two years will be important in the readjustment of municipal affairs and in working out postwar plans. It is now assured that these will be in safe hands all along the line.

Voters also did a good job of selecting the personnel of the legislative branch of city government. To accomplish that they did a little shopping around and came up with five new faces for city council. Those five will add considerable strength to council, for they represent quality, character and experience. Charles Cornwall has an excellent record as president of council back of him and Fred Koeneich is remembered as one of the best councilmen the city has had in recent years. While Fred Blevins and Harold Asty have had no experience, enough is known about them to recommend them as worthy representatives of their wards. J. Don Guiley also is a newcomer in municipal affairs, but not in experience in private enterprise and in community affairs, and much can be expected of him in an official capacity. These five will serve with two veterans—Arch Wentz and Harry Vincent—who should be thankful that the voters have given them such able associates.

Little need be said about the rest of the official family, for the voters assured a continuation in office of men with outstanding records—Solicitor Henry Reese, Treasurer Orvil Hoover and President of Council C. F. Zimmerman. The latter, with the help of the other veteran solons, should be able to build a strong councilmanic body. City problems already in the offing will require sound judgment, and that should be forthcoming from the men the voters selected at the polls Tuesday.

One of the Rubs

Anything that helps to clear up the causes of friction in the nation's industrial organization has a high priority. The labor-management conference in Washington, even though it is not expected to result in any direct action, is in the national spotlight. Nothing is more important than the job it has tackled.

Only by widening popular understanding of what is concerned in the disputes that have paralyzed some industries and threaten to thwart resumption of civilian production, America's best bet to check inflation, can there be any chance of averting a complete breakdown of industrial discipline.

One of the rubs generating industrial friction and making a sore spot is the tendency of collective bargaining to seek constantly higher wages. Management is not so much opposed to higher wage rates, which it is willing to pay within reason, as to the probability that any increases granted would become the immediate starting point for more bargaining and more increases. In a literal sense, collective bargaining itself is an obstacle in work stoppages; there frequently is nothing in the way of settlement, except the certainty that under collective bargaining nothing is going to be settled.

When the government seems to put its support behind the theory that wage rates can be increased ad infinitum but prices must be kept where they were the day before yesterday, an employer wanting to stay solvent does not dare to give in to wage demands lest he be bankrupted. If the purpose of the Washington conference is to produce answers to collective bargaining problems, one of the most important answers to look for is to the problem of paying wage rates that always go up and never come down or stay where they are out of gross income that sometimes goes up, sometimes goes down and sometimes stays the same.

Mr. Truman Out of Character

Though his presidential character still is developing and may have no resemblance when completed to what it started out to be, Mr. Truman nevertheless seemed to be talking out of character in his wage-price speech when he scolded Congress.

It is axiomatic in presidential politics that sooner or later a strong executive must quarrel with Congress because of the division of executive and legislative power. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of course, went further and quarreled with the judiciary, too.

In all his quarrels, both with legislators and judges, Mr. Roosevelt and his apologists were fond of pointing out that his mandate was so overwhelming that no one safely could challenge his assumption of leadership over all the government, not merely the executive branch. There were times when New Dealers were brazenly close to asserting that Mr. Roosevelt could do anything he chose to do because of his strength at the polls; that he had a blanket mandate to use his own judgment regardless of all objections that might be raised. Certain it is that as a result of repeated assumptions of the right to scold Congress only his most abusive scoldings, like the one that infuriated Senator Barkley in 1944, even called attention to Mr. Roosevelt's high-handedness.

But Mr. Truman never had the benefit of a blanket mandate. He ran in Mr. Roosevelt's shadow. He reached the vice presidency from the Senate, and he assumed the presidency with only a few months of executive background. For him to scold Congress is as much out of character as for Secretary Ickes to start praising Republicans. Congress has made its resentment evident. Mr. Truman stands reminded that the public support he was given so abundantly when he became chief executive did not include best wishes for an attitude of executive arrogance that had outworn its welcome.

The Stars Say

For Friday, November 9.

THE sidereal operations for this day may not be construed as anything less than critical or menacing, and that in a deep, subtle and possibly cordial or sinister manner. While there may be a definite inclination to work all affairs from under cover or strategic bases, with sly, crafty and insidious tactics, yet this subterfuge and elusive plan of action works both ways.

All sorts of dangers and duplicity are indicated, with strange and erratic circumstances to be handled with astute, honest, above-board tactics. Be alert in all writings and agreements.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may have a fairly lively year although nearly all affairs are submerged under threat of suspicion, subterfuge, duplicity and subtlety. Intrigue and treachery, with strange, erratic and curious developments menace all favorable prospects unless straightforward, astute and exceptionally sagacious and alert conduct be rigidly enforced on both sides of any proposition. There are splendid openings for brilliant operations, the mind and intellect being stimulated by the intuitions and imagination.

A child born on this day may have an exceptionally bright mind, with versatility, ingenuity and strong intuitive leads, but it may be disposed to strategem, intrigue and subtlety, inviting similar subterfuge from cheats and tricksters, to its undoing.

Secret Weapon

A Utah politician suggests that we should lend-lease John L. Lewis to Brazil where, he says, the miners are completely dominated by the capitalists.

Sounds reasonable. But why not lend-lease John L. to Argentina? After all, the UMW president conducted three strikes during the war, in defiance of popular and governmental wishes and personal appeals from the President. With that experience under his belt, he might be able to throw a scare into the Argentine government of colonels. At least, he'd do as well as anyone else has.

Happier Lives For Old Folks

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

PHYSICIANS, psychologists, and welfare workers of all sorts, are paying more and more attention to the problems of older people. This is happening for several reasons. First, there is an increase in the proportion of older people in the population. It has been estimated that there are about 9,000,000 people over 65 in the United States, and that by 1980 this will be increased to 26,000,000.

This growth in the proportion of older folk has been achieved by an increase in the span of life, changes in the birth rate, that is, fewer births, and a decrease in the number of young people entering the country through immigration. Second, there has been an increasing desire to meet the problems of the aged.

Mental Hygiene

According to Doctor S. R. Laycock of Canada, much attention should be given to mental hygiene, or mental care of the aged. These needs are much the same for older people as for younger ones.

First, they require affection. They desire to be members of a group and not to be left alone. They also want to be independent, and to make their own decisions. They want to do things, to create things, to find success, and to have what they do, receive the approval of others.

Many of the difficulties of older people are caused by emotional problems. Many of those with whom older people have lived may have passed on, or the older person may be living in a place where he is separated from his former friends. Just as young children will go to great lengths in attempts to receive attention, so older people may be driven to making a nuisance of themselves just to have someone notice them. These actions and a desire for attention may make it very difficult for the people with whom they live, but, of course, with careful study, the cause can easily be found and eliminated.

The loss of independence is one of the most serious losses of the aged. Many older persons suffer this loss of independence because of the overconcern of their children and, as a result, they may be kept from doing many of the things which they wish to do.

Young persons are apt to forget that they, themselves, do many foolish things, such as staying out later than they should, or eating or drinking the wrong things or more than is good for them. But the elderly are often made prisoners of kindness and are restricted too greatly. Those responsible for the care of the aged should pay as much attention to mental care as to physical well-being.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

M. Z.: Would drainage from the nose cause nausea and fatigue? I have sinus trouble.

Answer: A sinus infection might be responsible for fatigue. Swallowing of the secretion from the sinus would lead to nausea and sickness of the stomach.

S. B.—What is meant by hypocalcemia? What is the cause, and what is the remedy?

Answer—Hypocalcemia means a lack of calcium or lime in the blood. This condition may arise from a lack of vitamin "D" due to a deficiency of calcium—containing foods in the diet, or to some disturbance of the absorption of the calcium from the intestines.

The remedy consists in taking foods rich in calcium such as milk and its products, some special vitamin "D" products and, perhaps, some calcium preparation, such as calcium lactate.

Juvenile Delinquency Troubles Are Traced

COLUMBUS, Nov. 8.—Emotional disturbances in children lead to 91 per cent of the juvenile delinquency and in many cases the parents are to blame, the National Home Demonstration council was told today. Miss Genevieve Taylor, chief probation officer of the Columbus juvenile court, declared delinquency could be lessened if parents saw to it their children received proper training in sex education and were taught to strive for goals, rather than "to have everything handed" to them.

Weak Defenses Early In War Endangered Panama Canal

Through these locks of the Panama Canal flowed a steady stream of warships and cargo vessels until victory. A blow against the canal early in the war, when defenses were weak, might have wrecked out this important link between the Atlantic and the Pacific.

By S. BURTON HEATH
NEA Staff Correspondent

ALBOA, C. Z.—It is possible to reveal that the Axis powers had the victory boat, about five years ago, by their failure to give the Panama Canal aggressive and belligerent.

From what I have learned here, seems very probable that the Axis could have put the Canal of business in 1941 if they had had the weakness of its defenses. If they had been willing to take with that sacrificial spirit the kamikaze pilots exhibited the closing days of the war, they had knocked out the Canal. Information as to what happened during the war is very difficult to obtain from official sources, even from security angle is claimed. From sources of unquestioned reliability certain general facts are:

ECB SABOTAGE

Even before we got into the war, possible precaution against sabotage was initiated. With the sabotage of neighboring Latin American nations, a screen was set to that, theoretically, no person whatever nationality could get within hundreds of miles of the Canal without thorough inquiry into his background and his errand. Un-Americans, whose country was the Canal Zone that the United States administers, could not be in the zone from one part of the country to the other without full control.

United guards of sailors and marines through the Canal with 11,000 ships, during the war, for the slightest evidence any attempt at sabotage.

Very vessel that sailed the Canal, down to the tiniest fishing boat, had to carry identification markings recognizable from sea or air, for the benefit of protective patrols.

The efficiency of these measures is attested by the fact that the Canal functioned uninterruptedly throughout the war. No would-be saboteur ever got within danger distance of the vital locks.

VULNERABLE

But in the beginning the Canal was highly vulnerable to the type of attack that neither Germans nor Japs tried to make.

Neither guns, planes nor ships were available in sufficient numbers to give adequate protection against a determined attack. And there was a period when the relatively few planes in the Zone did not have sufficient gasoline or ammunition for a prolonged defense against a strong, persistent enemy.

On the Atlantic side the chain of bases that stretched from Cuba to Trinidad, through the Greater and Lesser Antilles, permitted surface and air patrols that would have encountered any Nazi carrier task force some 1150 miles east of Colon, and beyond the range of carrier-based bombers.

But on the Pacific side, until we fortified the Ecuadorian Galapagos Islands, a Jap force could have sneaked carriers within range at least as easily as did the one responsible for the attack on Pearl Harbor. Why that was not done, either simultaneously with the December 7 attack or immediately after, is not readily explainable.

Because it was not done, we were able to rush the Yorktown, the Hornet and the Wasp from Atlantic to Pacific after Pearl Harbor destroyed our Pacific Navy. We got at least a skeleton force into action against the Japs three weeks sooner than otherwise would have been possible. And the bare figure of 11,000 ships guarded through the locks gives some idea, to those who remember the critical shortage of shipping during most of the war, how vital those locks were to victory.

Your GI Rights

Questions and Answers On Problems of the Servicemen

WASHINGTON—Here are some more questions from veterans about buying homes with the aid of the government.

Q. My wife and I have decided to build exactly the kind of house we want rather than buy one already built. Is the procedure different for getting a loan to do this and can it be done?

A. The procedure for getting a loan to build your own house is the same as getting one guaranteed to buy a house. The government will have to okay your plans and you will have to furnish a pretty accurate estimate as to how much it will cost.

Q. We are considering buying a house for $10,000. If we borrow the money and get a loan guaranteed by the government approximately how much would our monthly payments be on a 20-year basis?

A. The monthly payments would be $64.68.

Q. If you want to make a loan to have your house repaired will the government guarantee it and how much interest will you have to pay?

A. You can get a loan guaranteed to make repairs on a house. Interest on the loan is four per cent.

Q. I am just getting started in the drug business and don't want to buy a house now. How long can I wait before making application to get a loan guaranteed to buy a house in the future?

A. Application to have a loan guaranteed must be made within five years after the war.

Q. Is it true that the government pays the interest charges on a loan that is guaranteed under the GI Bill of rights?

A. It pays the interest charges on the loan only for the first year.

Q. Can you get a loan from the government to build a house and then rent it to somebody else?

A. You must state that you intend to live in the house yourself.

Imagine dunking in this ruffle-duffle! Well, you're just as old-fashioned washing stockings with soap instead of modern VEL!

"WE MODERNS USE VEL"

Vel isn't a soap. It's a new scientific discovery. Vel activates every drop of water...gives it amazing washing power even after suds have dissolved.

NO SOAP EVER MADE SUDS LIKE VEL

... instant suds in ANY WATER!

INSTANT SUDS—and different suds! Completely unlike soap suds. Scientifically created Vel activates every drop of water in your washbowl. Even after suds have dissolved, Vel cleans and cleans! Dirt and stale perspiration... presto!... they're gone! Vel cleans cleaner than any soap you've ever used. And bye-bye to that old bugaboo of soap, that stubborn scum that fuzzes stocking sheerness. Vel leaves no scum—on the stockings or in the washbowl.

Delicate colors stay brighter and fresher than with even the finest soap flakes. Vel contains no alkali!

And what an economy Vel is! No waste. Unlike soap, every bit of Vel cleans. Then, too, you need much less Vel than soap in hard water. Your hands will love Vel. Actual skin tests prove it milder than all leading soap flakes or floating soaps. So for all your silk and woollens—be modern, buy Vel!

No dulling soap scum... and Vel doesn't fade colors, like soap.

Army To Release All Enlisted Men With Fifty Points

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 8. — The Army has decided to release this month enlisted men with 50 or more discharge points who are on furlough and enlisted men on temporary duty in the United States. Most of the men affected, the War department explained, were in units from Europe whose scheduled redeployment to the Pacific was cancelled after Japan surrendered. It did not estimate the number affected. The present general discharge score is 60 points. The Army also has laid down exemptions from overseas duty which will affect about 125,000 officers and enlisted men. Except for graduates of the military intelligence language school, regular army enlisted men and volunteers for foreign duty, no enlisted man with 21 months or more honorable service since Sept. 16, 1940, will be assigned overseas for permanent duty. Officers with 33 months or more honorable service, or with 20 months if medical department officers, are exempt unless they are reserve officers who choose to remain on active duty. Regular army officers, scarce specialists or are graduates of the military intelligence school with fewer than 30 months service and not eligible for discharge. Army nurses with 12 points or 30 years or age are exempt and no WAC officers are being sent across on permanent assignment.

Unfold New Tales Of Japanese Horror

By DEAN SCHEDLER
MANILA, Nov. 8.—The grim story of a Japanese reign of terror in Batangas province where 25,000 men, women and children were brutally mistreated or killed in seven months began to unfold today before the military commission hearing war crimes charges against Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita. Survivors have said that the death toll of civilians was far greater in Batangas than it was in Manila. Populations of entire villages, these survivors have reported, were held at bay at the point of Japanese guns while the invaders burned down all their homes. The prosecution's first Batangas witness was Lt. James P. Healey, Jr., of San Francisco, a War Crimes Investigation officer, who said he learned that some 6,000 Japanese soldiers ran rampant over the province from Oct. 6, 1944, to May 1 of this year, committing acts of brutality on the grounds their victims were guerrillas.

An all night vigil was kept over the body, which was transferred yesterday from the chapel of St. Mary's seminary.

Bishop Edward F. Hoban, who succeeded the archbishop as head of the diocese, presided at ceremonies as priests and seminarians chanted verses for the dead. The flow of visitors paying their respects to the beloved archbishop began immediately after the close of the service.

The diocesan chancery said at least 19 archbishops and bishops would attend the pontifical requiem mass for the archbishop to be intoned tomorrow morning by Bishop Hoban.

Indonesians Lose In British Clash

BATAVIA, Nov. 8.—A band of 1,000 Indonesians was beaten off by British Indian troops and tanks today near Batavia as tension mounted throughout Java.

Almost simultaneously Dutch forces threw back another attack on the Tjilitan airfield on the southeast outskirts of the capital, scattering a band of 300 Nationalists after a pitched battle which lasted nearly an hour.

The British colonel whose troops beat back the first attack, aimed at a camp for released Allied internees and war prisoners, said that for the first time the Indonesians appeared to be fighting under organized leadership.

The Indonesians left 14 dead in the battle at the internee camp.

SHOWDOWN NEAR ON CIO DEMANDS

(By Associated Press)

DETROIT, Nov. 8.—An immediate showdown on union demands for a 30 per cent wage rate increase for the nation's auto workers was foreseen today after the United Auto Workers (CIO) flatly rejected a compromise wage adjustment program offered Wednesday by General Motors Corp.

Simultaneously, early returns from yesterday's National Labor Relations board election among 80,000 Ford company employees showed a heavy majority favored a strike to support the wage requests.

No reports were available on balloting in Ford plants in the Detroit area, but Ford workers at Kansas City, Buffalo, N. Y., and Green Island, N. Y., recorded overwhelming sentiment in favor of a strike.

Both General Motors and Chrysler Corp. employees recently endorsed the possible strike action to support wage demands.

The General Motors proposal offered Wednesday, was criticized by UAW spokesmen, who termed it "inflationary."

H. W. Anderson, G-M vice president, said virtually all of the company's 180,000 hourly rate employees would be eligible for the boost which he estimated at "eight to ten per cent."

A union spokesman declared that a "large minority" of GM workers would not get any increases under the company's plan.

Anderson said the company proposal would boost wages of all hourly rated employees up to 30 per cent above what they were receiving in the same job classification Jan. 1, 1941. He explained the increase would be based on the amount of cost of living adjustment given individual employees.

Walter P. Reuther, UAW-CIO vice president, assailed what he termed inflationary results of such a proposal.

Asserting the union "will not be a party to sand-bagging the American consumer," Reuther said "such a course as the corporation proposes would limit the sale and production of cars and pave the way for inflation and a quick depression."

Says Loan Features Of "G. I. Bill" Are Not Satisfactory

COLUMBUS, Nov. 8.—The loan features of the G. I. Bill of Rights are "unsatisfactory both to the veteran and to the lender," H. E. Cook, Ohio's superintendent of banks, reported to Gov. Frank J. Lausche yesterday.

The governor said he would send copies of the report to the state's senators and representatives in Washington in the hope they might try to amend the law to make it more workable.

Too much time and red tape are required to complete a veteran's loan, Cook charged.

He explained that under the present law business loans may be made only for equipment, no provision whatsoever being made for inventory or merchandise with which to carry on a business.

"It is almost impossible for any lending agency to make loans for the purchase of a business" because of the restrictions in the law and the regulations governing its operation, he declared.

Cook pointed out the Ohio legislature had removed practically every restriction on Ohio banks making G. I. loans so as to comply both with the G. I. act in letter and spirit, and said as a result Ohio chartered banks were now in position to grant more liberal treatment to veterans than national banks can.

The Ohio bank superintendent also called attention to what he called "ill-advised publicity" regarding the purpose of the G. I. Bill

Youngest Father of Youngest Vet

One of the nation's youngest war veterans has one of the youngest fathers. "We've always been buddies," says Buddy Spears, left, above, of Wynne, Ark., 31-year-old father of Pvt. The boy was an eighth-grader in a Little Rock, Ark., school when he enlisted in the Army with his dad's consent. He was given a medical discharge after 10 months' service.

of Rights. He said this had led many veterans to believe the G. I. loans "were actually in the form of a bonus and not a debt to be repaid."

The G. I. Bill of Rights requires veterans to furnish their own security on loans.

Girl, 18, Survives Attack By Hammer- Wielding Assailant

(By Associated Press)
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—A pretty 18-year-old girl, beaten into unconsciousness by a hammer-wielding motorist, is in too serious a condition to be questioned further about her assailant, police said today.

The victim of the beating is Justice Hume of Stamford, Conn., a freshman at the School of Horticulture at nearby Amherst.

After hospital treatment for deep gashes in her scalp and arms, the girl told Police Chief James Ottlinger she was waiting for a bus when an automobile passed "so close to me that I thought it would knock me down... something hit me on the head."

"Momentarily stunned, I sat down on an embankment. The car stopped a dozen yards away and a man got out and walked back to me. He didn't say a word, just stood over me with a horrible grin on his face."

"Then he said suddenly, 'I'm sorry.'"

"As I got to my feet, I suddenly noticed that he had a mechanic's hammer in his hand. He swung and, as it struck my head, he said, 'there.'"

She said the man continued to strike her with the hammer; then picked her up and tossed her into some bushes and drove away.

The World Today

Minister Molotov started it in his Moscow address Tuesday, when he condemned the tendency towards formation of a bloc of western European powers, and asked that all the secrets in connection with the manufacture of the atomic bomb be placed at Russia's disposal.

Former Prime Minister Winston Churchill also turned up some cards in the house of commons debate on foreign affairs yesterday. The old maestro did a colorful job of blunt talking, especially when he said Russia wouldn't share the secrets of the atomic bomb if she alone had them, and urged Prime Minister Attlee not to press America during the forthcoming conference in Washington to divulge details.

Both Churchill and Bevin subscribed to President Truman's 12 point foreign policy, and one of the most striking displays of cards came when Churchill said:

"We (Britain) should make clear to the United States that we will march at their side in the cause President Truman has defined. This is our chance of survival and it may even be of safety and, with safety, a vast extension of prosperity."

Churchill was repeating his theme song of Anglo-American solidarity.

It is important to note that while there was blunt talk in commons, especially regarding Russia, there also were kindly words for the Soviet, and the need of collaboration among the powers was emphasized just as Molotov had emphasized it Tuesday. The road to peace—admittedly a dangerous road—lies in this mutual recognition that solidarity of the Big Three is vital.

Racing Commission Will Have Lausche As Official Guest

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Nov. 8.—The State Racing commission learned today Gov. Frank J. Lausche would attend its next meeting to hear what members propose to do about race track operations which were the subject of criticism during the last session of the general assembly.

Lausche in a letter to the commission said he felt that problems under discussion the past year should be revived and re-examined, particularly of totalizers. He listed the subjects as:

(1) Are the taxes that the state of Ohio is now collecting from the race tracks adequate?
(2) Is the public interest being adequately protected by the supervision which we now exercise over the tracks?
(3) Hasn't the time come for installation of totalizers?
(4) To what extent should the rules and regulations be amended?

The governor reminded the commission that although totalizers were not available during wartime, it had been agreed they would be ordered as soon as possible.

"Has an order to that effect been issued?" he inquired.

"It is imperative that the various subjects... mentioned be investigated promptly so that decisions upon the various subjects will be reached within a reasonable time," the letter read.

No date has been set for the commission's next meeting, which is subject to call of its chairman.

Ohio's 1945 racing season has closed.

K. Berg, president, Ohio Dairymen's association.

General sessions will adjourn at noon, but it is planned to hold any open forum after lunch, that may be helpful.

It is expected that this year's convention will attract 300 to 400 dairymen from throughout Ohio. Local hotels and tourists homes have been contacted to accommodate visiting farmers. This is the first meeting in full convention form since the beginning of the war.

Warren Telephone Co. Workers Given Raise

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—The War Labor board said today its National Telephone commission has granted a five-cent hourly starting pay increase to 122 employees of the Warren (Ohio) Telephone Co.

The workers, represented by the AFL International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, had conducted a strike earlier in behalf of their demands.

The commission ordered rates for 111 employees at Warren raised to 55 cents an hour starting pay with tapering raises to 78½ cents hourly top rate after six years. The Warren starting rate had been 50 cents, the top rate 77 cents.

For 11 employees at the nearby Newton Falls exchange the commission ordered a starting rate of 50 cents with rates ranging to 65 cents after six years.

The top rate at Newton Falls has been 60 cents. Labor members of the commission dissented from the order because the union had asked a 20-cent hourly general increase and had asked for elimination of pay differentials between Warren and Newton Falls.

The increases are all retroactive to June 1, 1945, expiration date of a former contract. This had been agreed to by both parties.

Increases to maintain existing pay differentials over the 122 telephone operators also were ordered for supervisory employees and clerks.

MURDER SUSPECT UNDERGOES QUIZ

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, Nov. 8.—A 49-year-old suspect was arrested and questioned by Cleveland Heights police today in an effort to solve the slaying of Mrs. Dorothy Dolin.

Expos found on the suspect's clothing were subjected to microscopic examination to determine if they are blood spots. No results of the examination were disclosed.

The prisoner formerly worked as handyman for the victim's husband, Louis "Yockey" Dolin, identified by police as a local gambling operator. Detective Sergeant Edgar Clark said the suspect denied knowledge of the crime and provided an alibi which accounted for his time up until 11 p. m. Monday.

The body of the attractive victim was found in the living room of their Cleveland Heights home early Tuesday. She had been strangled, stabbed and beaten about the head with an electric iron.

What's Wrong With This Picture?

Nothing really wrong, but you'll agree it's quite odd to see an all-boy audience wildly cheering and almost swooning over—Frank Sinatra, of all people. And odder, yet—"The Voice" seems to leave the few girls in the front row pretty cold. Boys went ga-ga over Frankie when he addressed them at New York's Benjamin Franklin High School, pleading for racial tolerance after recent race disturbances there.

ALDOMARE, QUINN FILE FOR RETRIAL

LISBON, Nov. 8.—A motion for a new trial has been filed in common pleas court in the case of the State of Ohio vs. Eugene Paul Aldomare and Joseph Quinn, et al, setting forth six causes in which it is charged by counsel for the defendants that the court erred in the trial.

The youths were found guilty by a jury in the common pleas court of burglary and larceny committed at a Salem pool room.

Counsel for the defense set forth the following causes of error:

1. The verdict was against the manifest weight of evidence in the case.
2. The court erred in overruling a motion of defense at the close of the state's evidence to direct a verdict for the defendants on the grounds the state had failed to prove to a proper degree the charge set out in the indictment.
3. The court erred in overruling a motion of defense at the close of the state's evidence to arrest from consideration of the jury the charge of burglary set out in the indictment.
4. The defendants' rights in the cause were prejudiced in that the court after charging the jury permitted them to go home and return the following morning without first sending them out for deliberation upon a verdict, to which the defendants duly objected.

Gus Edwards Dies After Long Illness

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 8.—Gus Edwards, beloved Tin Pan Alley tunesmith and discoverer of countless stars of the stage and screen, is dead.

The 66-year-old songwriter, actor and producer died in his apartment last night after a long illness.

Writer of such song hits as "School Days," "By the Light of the Silvery Moon," "In My Merry Oldsmobile," and "Sunbonnet Sue," Edwards discovered and helped along such outstanding performers as Eddie Cantor, George Jessel, Lily Lee, Mae Murray, Lillian Lorrain, Larry Adler, Eleanor Powell, Merle Leroy, Bert Wheeler, Earl Carroll, Helen Menken, Hildegarde, Johnny Hines, Groucho Marx, The Duncans Sisters, Ray Bolger and Eddie Bazell.

In the heyday of vaudeville, Gus Edwards was a headliner on the Orpheum and Keith circuits. One of his last musical undertakings was the writing of songs and story for "The Star Maker," a movie based on Edwards' life and starring Bill Crosby.

By HAL BOYLE

TOKYO—Souvenir crazy G.I.'s have swamped, in a giant two-day buying spree, the Army's program to supply them Japanese gee-gaws at cost.

The Army's new post exchange, billed as "the finest in the world," opened last Saturday in the Hattori building, which is the Japanese equivalent to Tiffany or Cartier. Army agents had scoured Tokyo area for weeks buying all kimono, pearls, wood prints, lacquer-ware and other examples of native handicraft they could find.

Capt. W. W. Ward of New Orleans, La., and a staff of two lieutenants and five enlisted men and two truck drivers spent a week redecorating the building, arranging displays and training 50 Japanese sales girls the rudiments of English.

When the doors opened at noon Saturday, the building looked as neat as any Fifth ave. department store with counters piled high with colorful goods. When the doors closed at 5 p. m.—three hours ahead of schedule—the place looked like it had been swept clean by a monsoon. In those five hours, some 17,000 yelling, cheering, grinning, pushing soldiers and sailors had swarmed through the sales floors and cleaned them out, plunking down nearly $100,000.

Among the crowd were hundreds of soldiers preparing to return to the United States who want to take back Christmas presents—and judging from the kimono they bought, they wanted to make their girl friends all look like a Nipponese rainbow.

It was a sale where rank meant nothing, where the private's dollar was just as good as the general's, and where both elbowed equally at the choked counters.

A dozen air force colonels managed to crash their way into the sales floors before the opening hours.

When the post exchange officer objected to this to Maj. Gen. William S. Thompson, he was told to eject the colonels.

"You'll have to leave, sir," Ward said to one.

"Do you know who you are talking to, captain?" asked the colonel stiffly.

"I don't know, sir," replied Ward, "but if you all don't go out that door right now, you'll have to explain your presence to the major general over there."

The colonel took one look at the frowning general and said:

"Which door did you say?"

The Japanese men flowed in so fast that the cash registers would not hold them. Lt. Robert D. McNamara poured the bills into a wooden box and then had to stomp on them with his feet to pack them down.

After the last of 3,000 kimono were sold, late comers tried to buy those the sales girls were wearing. The post exchange staff and sales girls worked feverishly all day Sunday, restocking, and when the doors opened Monday a double line of waiting soldiers was around the entire building. Everything was gone in a few hours. And now there is a problem of where to find more goods.

One small customer was given

Game Time: 7:45 p. m.

Rebounding from a 32-0 shellacking by East Liverpool is not going to be any easy task for the Salem Quakers tomorrow night at Reilly stadium when they meet Coach Lyle Warren's Lisbon Blue Devils in the final game of the season for both teams.

It will be Dad's day for Salem and some 35 to 40 Quaker fathers will adorn the sidelines and be honored at halftime, but for the locals to honor their "Pops" with a victory is going to be a stiff assignment.

In record, Salem holds somewhat of an edge. In weight the two teams are nearly equal. In returned letters from 1944, they are also equal.

Salem has won four games, tied one and lost three. Lisbon has won two, lost six. Three of the losses, however, were scored over the Blue Devils after Lisbonites had led their opponents and put up terrific battles.

The Lisbon team is coming to Salem well armed with the annual desire to knock off its larger county rival. Salem has no such pre-game incentive, excepting a desire to come back after the East Liverpool pasting.

Psychologically the Blue Devils rate the edge. In comparisons with mutual foes, Salem gains the edge one place and Lisbon the other.

Lisbon Scored On Leetonia

Salem took East Palestine 35-0 while Lisbon whipped them 7-6. Leetonia, however, walloped Salem 27-0 and allowed the Quakers but two first downs, one on a penalty. Lisbon lost 33-7, but led the Bears at one point in the game and kept them busy all the way through.

Most effective in Lisbon's youngster outfit is the passing combination of Allen Webber and the two ends, Felix Retucki and Kenneth Woods. Webber is a 167-pound fullback and a Junior; Woods a 150-pound Freshman left end, and Retucki a 153-pound Sophomore right end.

The rest of Warren's backfield includes Junior Tom McKenna, 157-pound quarterback and a veteran; Ken Koffel, 151-pound Senior, and Arch Brinker, 142-pound Senior at the halfbacks.

Devils Are Back In '46

Only the two Senior backs will be lost to the squad next season, leaving Warren with a terrific returning guard next year. The balance of the squad is in its second season of starting ball—a factor that indicates power for Lisbon in 1946.

Ralph Anato, a Sophomore end; Leonard Batcha, another Sophomore and a tackle; Phil Bretz, a second year end, and Frank Pezarski at halfback, a Junior, will undoubtedly see action here tomorrow.

Allen and George Dickey, Sophomores and Junior, respectively, and Bill Martin, will also play, Coach Warren said.

Faculty Manager Fred Cope said the Lisbon High band will perform at halftime, along with the Salem band, which will take part in the Dad's celebration.

CONN SAYS BOXING TRAINING NOT IN EXHIBITION BOUTS

Says He will lay off Shows And Will Begin Real Training for Louis

(By Associated Press)
KANSAS CITY, Nov. 8.—Billy Conn, the fancy boxing Irishman from Pittsburgh, says he is convinced exhibition fighting is a "heck of a poor way" to get in condition for his championship bout with Heavyweight King Joe Louis next June.

"That's why, he said, after a 3-round appearance here last night, he is quitting 'show off' stuff in favor of serious training.

"You can tell the world I'm through with exhibitions," the handsome ex-army corporal declared.

"Fans don't realize it's only an exhibition," Conn explained. "They expect me to show the same boxing skill I used the night in 1941 when I boxed rings around Louis for 12 rounds before I got careless."

Overweight and not up to his usual speed, Conn threw a few fast hooks in the last minute of the exhibition, but he admitted that he had a "long way to go."

"I'm going to spend some time on road work at Hot Springs, Ark.," Conn said, "then I'm going to return to Pittsburgh and start mixing it with good sparring partners."

"I'm certain I can lick Louis this time—I don't plan to spoil my chances running around the country showing off."

BUCKEYE OFFENSES SHARPER FOR PITT

Censorship Still On As Writers Are Barred From Player-Chats

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Nov. 8.—Censorship of the football team today with sports writers to discuss the Buckeye mentor's new policy of informing the public on the doings of his gridders.

Widdoes said he called the meeting to straighten out what he called "misunderstandings" resulting from the censorship policy he invoked in the wake of publicity that attended Halfback Paul Sarrainghaus' resignation and reaffirmation with the squad.

The Buck coach's censorship ruling prohibited sports scribes from visiting locker rooms and banned his players from talking to newsmen, but it didn't prevent the writers from watching practice sessions. And from what they saw yesterday, it looked like the Buck-Pitt game at Pittsburgh Saturday would be an offensive battle.

Widdoes indicated he thought Coach Clark Shaughnessy's Panthers would have plenty in the way of scoring strength and said he wanted his gridders to be just as strong in that department.

The Pittsburgh game is expected to be a breather for the Bucks, providing them with plenty of rest for ensuing Western Conference games against such tough foes as Illinois and Michigan.

Other Big Ten football teams aren't facing such an easy weekend, however.

Indiana, undefeated and leading the loop, was favored over Minnesota, but this next to last obstacle in the Hoosier's drive for their first Conference title was expected to be a big one.

In the 49 years of competition in the Big Ten every school has won at least one football title except the Hoosiers. Victories over Minnesota and Purdue, on Nov. 24, would give them the title.

The Hoosiers held the favorite role against the Gophers because of their season's league record of three wins, no defeats and a tie as compared to Minnesota's lone victory.

Also, Indiana has been strengthened since the season got underway. Two regulars have returned from

Clippers Are Set To Capture Important Game On Friday

Columbiana's Clippers set out this season to accomplish three things: (1) Win the Tri-County league title; (2) defeat Leetonia, and (3) to defeat East Palestine.

So far this year they are doing well, having accomplished the No. 2 item more successfully than it was expected of them before the Leetonia game. They are out of the Tri-County race, but have given an excellent account of themselves and are sure of a third place spot if they accomplish point 3 in their original campaign plans.

Couch Johnny Cabas turned the trick last season over an East Palestine group which was supposed to defeat Columbiana. This season the tables are turned—the Bulldogs are the underdogs—but Cabas is determined that isn't going to reverse the outcome of the game.

When the two teams clash under the lights at Senior stadium in East Palestine at 7:45 p. m. Friday, the Clipper fans and the Bulldogs rosters will be up to their usual pre-game point of excitement.

Of all other rivalries, the East Palestine game is the crowning point in each team's season.

Coach Cabas will be minus one expert on his outfit this week as Lineman Jim Mollenkopf, who has been an invaluable asset this season, is out with a broken wrist bone.

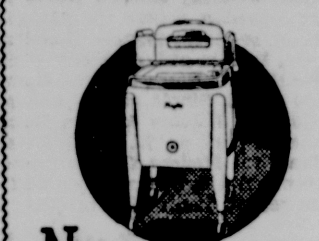

The rest of the line is in good shape. Harry McBride, Bill Poulton, Lee Miller, Don Rapp, Dick Reinher, Wayne Urschler and several others are ready for action this week.

The backs, Bill Newell and Bob Hum at halfbacks, Don Kurtz and Carl Sheets at quarter and full back, respectively, are all in good trim and anxious to take the No. 3 goal on their season's schedule.

The Clippers rate a slight weight advantage over East Palestine and are somewhat wary of the Bulldogs, who are definitely "due" this week.

So far this year the charges of Coach Bob Aikenhead haven't won a game in eight starts, and the usual Columbiana pre-game "pep", combined with few breaks that certainly are due the Bulldogs, might

If Henry Wickham had not smuggled 70,000 rubber tree seeds out of Brazil in 1876 and taken them to England, whence plants were sent to the East Indies to thrive and develop into the world's chief rubber source, Brazil probably would be the center of rubber production today.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Factory versus Farm: A Draw

Mel Bates and Jud Polk were arguing the other day about the factory versus the farm. Jud has a job in the tool works and Mel grows the best corn in the county.

"Where would you farmers be," Jud says, "if it weren't for the factories that make your plows and tractors?" "And where would you factory workers be," says Mel, "unless we farmers grew the food that keeps you going?" Well, they called it a draw, and made peace over a glass of beer, "brewed from golden farmer's grain," allows Jud, "... and bottled and kept wholesome by the ingenuity of industry," Mel adds politely.

From where I sit, we may have different occupations, different standards, different opinions... but we're all necessary to one another. And the more we skip the differences, and stress the bigger issues of co-operation, tolerance, and understanding... the closer we are to a better world.
